@Brad_Roberts Just hold the line a minute while I get a personal loan for my breakfast. 2 pieces of toast $8 #caffeine #teneriffe #brisbane you're a joke

NOT LOVING IT

ALTHOUGH the Christmas shopping nightmare continues to hang over us like a dark cloud, according to some, now is the time to get the jump on "beautiful gifts for Valentine's Day". That's what led an email which lobbed into BUZZ's inbox last week before it was promptly deleted.

THE BUZZ

1 PET ENVY

CHRISTMAS came early for an appreciative bunch of locals, when Petrie Tce "gentleman's club" The Velvet Cigar hosted the Australian Penthouse magazine Meet the Pets party. Star attraction among the glamazon pin-ups was the freshly-crowned 2010 Pet of the Year, Jewell Tyler (pictured) with Velvet Cigar owner Billy Xantos. Good to see she's religious - nice. And that's all we have to say about that.

2 HOT MOVES

MODEL Richard Cilli ain't just a pretty face - he's also a celebrated dancer. Cilli, who was awarded Best Male Dancer at the 2010 Helpmann Awards in September for his role in we unfold and danced at the Biennale di Danza in Venice in June, is also a model in the latest Van Heusen advertising campaign. He will reprise his award-winning role in we unfold QPAC from November 18 to 27. Visit www.qpac.com.au or www.sydneydancecompany.com to see him in the flesh.

3 PUBLICITY GENIUS

WE at BUZZ witnessed a stroke of publicity genius this week. A message arrived in the post scrawled on brown paper from someone claiming to have returned to the 1994 Commonwealth Games and secured a lock of Cathy Freeman's hair, which was attached. We were confused until a follow-up letter directed Buzz to an upcoming film release about time travel. Clever! Visit www.thefuturemachine.tv

4 MARION HOLDS COURT

GADENS Lawyers staff will cook like Masterchefs this Christmas. Contestant Marion Grasby is one of the ingredients of the firm's Christmas party with an exclusive demonstration tomorrow. Staff will get insider tips and the opportunity to share a few drinks with one of the country's most-loved MasterChefs. Words is cheese and crackers will be replaced by oysters with green chilli nahm jim at this soiree.

5 BUZZ HEARTS HARRY

HARRY Potter fans were sent into a frenzy of excitement when Queensland became the second-only audience in the world to see a preview of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows Part 1, at the Australian premiere at Warner Bros. Movie World last Saturday, less than 40 hours after the London red-carpet showing. Red carpet guests included Aria Award winners Operator Please and sporting identities Stephanie Rice and Brent Staker. Part 1 opens in Australia today.

6 HOT FOOTED

Bad Karma will rain on numerous diners who sought some late-night sweetness at Emporium's Freestyle Tout on Saturday night. Patrons were evacuated at around 10.30pm after a fire at a nearby eatery but according to staff, several left without paying. Fire officers arrived within minutes to give the all clear and diners were allowed to get back to the serious business of dessert.

7 SANTA PAWS

TO celebrate this week's release of The Search for Santa Paws to Disney Blu-ray and DVD, Australia's favourite vet, Dr Katrina Warren, is arming city slickers with knowledge on how to care for a new puppy this Christmas. Top tips include not feeding your new furry one chocolate and grog, no matter how many egg nogs you sink in the silly season.
